A Traveling Tip

Many credit union members love the convenience of the credit union debit card, but when traveling be sure to carry a second source of payment. There are times when your debit card may not work due loss of the card, system problems, fraud detection, or the daily purchase limit.

Some car rental, hotels, and other venders, may hold additional money against your card limiting other items you can purchase because of daily limit. A second source of payment, like the Credit Union MasterCard, is a great idea to carry when traveling.
