Before you claim debit card fraud . . .

Fraudulent transactions are transactions that clear your account that were beyond your control.

If you allow someone to use your debit card, or you leave your debit card in an unsecure area, any transaction(s) made as a result of those is between you and that person. Those transactions are NOT fraudulent transactions.

If you authorize a transaction for any amount from a merchant and have an issue with the item or amount that cleared, you will need to reach out to that merchant.

It is NOT a fraudulent transaction.
